I took it, but with little midday he thought his highest estimate of the hopes of recovery. I am thankful, however, to say democratic vote in this city would be justified. The democrats appear to feel at this time that all is as well as they could wish it in the city. They think it is sure that Tammany is "talking fare." They recognize no danger in the state unless Harrison polls an extraordinary vote in the county. Grace says New York city will give 75,000 majority. M.

> REPUBLICANS MORE CONFIDENT. Their Figures as to the Plurality Below Harlem. Special dispatch to The Eveniue Star.

New York, Nov. 8 .- Republicans are more confident today than any time the past week. Reports show good weather all over the WE USED TO HEAR THAT CONBeports show good weather all over the amination in any case. The prisoners made a statement and were then subjected to a quespatches from the interior of New York show that a very full vote is being polled. The republican state committee say its advices lend to the conclusion that New York above Harlem will give a larger plurality than four years ago, and the most careful figures lead them to believe that the democratic plurality below Harlem will not be much increa In addition to the fact that republicans found they were getting out a very full vote throughout the state their figures on New York lead them to believe that the democratic plurality below Harlem will not be over 72,000. The registration in New York was 309,830, of which about 94 per cent will vote, so the total wote will be about 291,000.

The democrats usually get 59 per cent and the republicans 40 of the vote in New York. On this basis the democrats would get about 171,000 and the republicans 115,000, with a democratic plurality of 55,000. In Kings county, owing to gains the republicans are making from year to year, the republicans usually poll 44 per cent of the vote.

This would give 80,000 votes and democrats Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver cratic plurality in Queens, Suffolk and Richmond countries at the high figures of 5,000.

THE OUTLOOK FROM ALBANY. But Few Stay-at-Homes Expected-Abund-

ance of Money on Both Sides. ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 8 .- There is a hindrance to republican voters, as it is popularly believed that the farmers are averse to going five or six miles to exercise the right of suffrage over it is safe to say that there will be few stay-at- short time for the entry and clearance of veshome voters in New York this year. EFFORTS TO GET OUT THE VOTE.

The campaign committees of both parties have made extraordinary efforts to get out every voter. Funds have been forwarded by both parties into every one of the 5,111 dis tricts of the state, with explicit direction ons that neither money nor pains be spared to bring out the aged, infirm, the lame, the hait and the blind; in fact, every one having the right to vote and the physical ability to exercise it. Neither party can be charged with laches in this campaign and noth-ing short of a cloudburst or a snow storm will revent a full vote DIFFICULTY IN GETTING EARLY RETURNS.

One difficulty in getting early returns from this state this year arises because of the votes on the three constitutional amendments. Every on the three constitutional amendments. Every voter is given not less than eleven ballots morning. In front of the polling place at No. in this state today. In districts like the 66 Madison street there was a free fight at an in this state today. In districts like the fourth Albany, where independent nominations for the assembly are made, additional ballots are given. A majorvoters will vote upon the amendments, so that more than usual time will be consumed in the making out the returns. Another element of delay will be the large number of democratic voters who will scratch the name of the republican-demo-eratic nominee for chief judge of the court of appeals. From every county this morning comes the intelligence that perfect harmony and accord exist in all factions of both parties except Onondaga. In this county the issue between the contending forces has been direct and bitter. Belden has been opposed since the day of his nomination by the administration forces under the lead of Hiscock, Collector Hendricks and Postmaster Smith of Syracuse. They have opposed his nominees throughout. Con-sequently Belden has no great desire for the sequently heiden has no great desire for the success of the republican electoral ticket and is trading and using all his means for his own success and the success of his candidates. His cutting on the electoral ticket will cause a falling off of the normal republican vote for Harrison in Onondaga county.

ABUNDANCE OF MONEY ON BOTH SIDES. There is an abundance of money on both sides. The republicans are using it liberally. In this city the republicans are using it liberally to influence the Hill democrats to cut the democratic assembly nominees and split. This is an effort to save the assembly for the This is an effort to save the assembly for the republicans in order to elect a republican to the United States Senate. At present it is impossible to ascertain whether or not this same move is attempted elsewhere. It would not work successfully in any county but Albany, because the organization and the nominees here are Cleveland men, while a numinees here are Cleveland men, while a numinees here are cleveland.

There is no danger, however, of Hill demo crats cutting the democratic electoral ticket. The war of words between Lieut. Gov. Sheehan and the federal authorities has done a world of good to the democratic party.

HEAVY VOTE IN NEW YORK CITY. By 9 O'Clock Half of It Had Been Polled in Some Districts.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 .- Election day dawned cloudy, and the prophecy of the weather bureau that there would be rain seemed assured. During the night it had rained hard at intervals the rain had temporarily, at all events, ceased.

Heavy clouds hung over the city, but every now and then the sunlight would burst through them. About 7 o'clock patches of clear, blue sky appeared overhead, and an hour later the sun was shinning brightly and the air was mild and balmy. A soft wind blew from the southwest and seemed to carry the clouds away with it.

Whitelaw Reid, the republican vice presidential candidate, arose early and made his appearance on the street before 7 o'clock. The election booth where Gov. Flower voted is opposite Mr. Reid's residence. He cast a hasty glance at the place and then hastened through 50th street toward 3d and balmy. A soft wind blew from the southwest and seemed to carry the clouds away with it. but at 6 o'clock, when the polls were opened,, place the new ballot law is not yet clear to all citizens, and time and time again the clerks had to instruct voters. The most frequent mistake was made in folding the ballots lengthwise first. Another mistake was made in folding the edges even, instead of up to the perforated stubs. Countless ballots were destroyed and new sets furnished to the confused voters.

There were more ballot boxes than usual on account of the three constitutional amend-

There were more ballot boxes than usual on account of the three constitutional amendments that were voted on, and this indicates that the count-up after the close of the polls will take longer than usual. There were many among the voters who had not even heard that constitutional amendments were to be voted on, and as these amendments were only specified and not printed in full in the negative and affirmative ballots many did not vote them at

There was no doubt by 11 o'clock that a big vote was being polled, far beyond the expectations of many of the leaders. In some of the polling places, particularly in the tenement districts, more than half of the total vote had ed by 9 o'clock and lines of men extended out into the street waiting their turn to deposit their bailots.

The two local candidates for mayor—Gilroy and Einstein—were up bright and early, and started out to vote and make the rounds of the polling places. Mr. Gilroy devoted his attention to the Harlem districts. He will spend the afternoon and evening at Tammany Hail. Mr. Einstein drove about the up town brown stone districts, and seemed satisfied that his party vote was being polled rapidly. He will spend the afternoon at his headquarters. ARRESTS FOR ILLEGAL PROJETRATION

Arrests for illegal registration were not so numerous in the early morning hours as had been expected. To dispose of such cases three United States commissioners were in consession from 9 o'clock—Messrs.
and Deuel in the federal building and Spooner at 155 west 125th street, Harlem. Arrangements had been made by Tammany Hall for the release on bail of any of their voters who might fall into the official clutches of a deputy United States marshal, and the organization had several lawyers before each commissioner to see that the prisoners were properly treated. Bail to the amount of nearly $3,000,000 was arranged for yesterday, sureties having qualified before the United States commissioners in that sum.

There was no attempt to have a formal examination in any case.

Tammany lawyer and upon the facts as they were disclosed the court acted. A number of arrests were based upon evident misun-derstandings and the prisoners were at once discharged. In other cases they were held for future examination under bail of $1,000 or $1,500. Most of the morning arrests were by warrants previously issued, mainly upon Chief Inspector Daven-port's affidavit. In a number of instances the attorneys for the prisoners, after the latter had been released on ball, would ask the com-missioner "Can this man vote?" to which the invariable response was, "That is a question for the inspectors to decide." The cases of the city hospital attaches, who work for board and lodging and were recently placed on the pay roll, were set for hearing at 10 o'clock next Tuesday morning before Commissionar Shields missioner Shields.

One arrest that created some amusement and not a little amazement occurred in the twenty fourth precinct. A deputy marshal brought in a blind Pole whom he had arrested because he could not see the ballot offered him.

The commissioner at once ordered the dis charge of the prisoner.

Fifty of the 300 warrants issued yesterday Fifty of the 300 warrants issued yesterday were executed at the polls before 9 o'clock this morning. Several were held for trial and the others were discharged. Up to 10 o'clock twenty-five arrests were reported at the federal building.

At Tammany Hall the clans began to gather before the sun's rays had struck the famous building. IN DOWN TOWN DISTRICTS."

In the down town districts it was as quiet as on a Sunday. The exchanges and banks were roads made dangerous by excessive rains. But all closed; the custom house was open for a sels. The city and county courts were closed but the supreme court was open to dispose of any election case that might come up. The post office was open for two hours.

POLICE ON DUTY. Police headquarters was a scene of activity this morning. Superintendent Byrnes was at his desk at 6 o'clock. At 6:30 Inspectors Mc-Avoy, Conlin and Williams arrived. Three carriages were kept in front of headquarters for the use of inspectors. At 8 o'clock 150 reserves were on duty and in readiness in case of trouble. The patrol wagons were standing in Mulberry street in case they were needed. President Martin reached his office at 7:30 o'clock and was soon after joined by Com-missioners Sheehen and McClave. General quiet throughout the city was reported. Reserves are also on duty in the station houses.

Gov. Flower was the first of the distinguished men to cast his vote. It was not generally known that he claimed a residence in New York city. But he had registered in 50th street and Madison avenue. Shortly after 7 o'clock the governor walked into the polling place, and, with a pleasant smile for the inspectors, said: "Good morning, gentlemen; it's a beautiful morning, isn't it?"

"Delightful," answered a policeman, who stood near by.

The janitor of a 5th avenue flat was just ahead of the governor and attempted to step back, but the governor objected, exclaiming: "No, now keep your place, I'll vote in the regular order."

When all the line had been furnished tickets when all the line had been furnished tickets up to Gov. Flower the ballot clerk said, as he handed over set No. 21: "Roswell P. Flower, 597 5th avenue."

It was just 7:15 o'clock when the governor entered the little booth to select and fold his tickets. Ten minutes later he came out and handing the tickets he wished to vote over to the inspector, stepped back and started to move He was interrupted by an exclamation from the inspector, however, and returned.

The janitor had voted without difficulty and seemed to feel proud of his superior knowledge of how to exercise his franchise. of how to exercise his franchise.

"The big men don't knoweverything as much as some poor folks about some things," said the fanitor, and the remark provoked smiles.

The governor took eight minutes for his sec-

The governor took eight minutes for his second attempt, and with a satisfied, determined look he faced the inspectors again.

"I guess it's all right now," he said, and waited for a reply.

"That'll do," said the inspector, with a broad grin, and he deposited the full set in their respective boxes as the governor hastened away.

Whitelaw Reid, the republican vice presidential candidate, arose early and made with it.

It was evident that a big vote would be polled. At 10 o'clock the Prophet Dunn evidently repented of his pessimistic views of yesterday and sent out an amended report to the effect that the weather would be clear all day in this section and that the rain storm would not pan out as advertised. This was considered to be favorable to the republicans.

During the early hours of the morning the residential streets presented an appearance of life. The voters were getting out bright and early. On the extreme cast and west sides of the city and in the down town tenement districts the streets were thronged.

It is doubtful if in years there have been so many officials and workers about the polls. All the parties had legions of men employed, and these added to the inspectors, ballot clerks, police. United States marshals and supervisors made the scene a lively one. The workers were unusually urgent in their appeals to the voters, and in many cases the methods of the Baxter street merchant princes. made famous the country over in song and story, were discounted.

SCENERS OF UNUSUAL ACTIVITY.

During the early hours all indications pointed to a quiet election. In the polling places there was an unusual scene of activity. In the first place the new ballot law is not yet clear to all citizens, and time and time again the clerks had to instruct voters. The most frequent mistake was made in folding the edges even, instead of up to the perforated stubs.

Whitelaw Reid arrived at White Plains from in New York on 11 o'clock train and at once proceeded to the polls in the first district of Harriscon, where he voted. He then drove to his home at Ophir Farm. He said to intended to remain home during the intended to remain home during the ball with his family and this evening will receive the returns over the telephone in his library. He does not expect to have any visitors. Mr. Reid expressed himself as very hopeful that the republican leetoral ticket would be elected.

Ex-President Cleveland left his house, 12 the polling

REPUBLICANS REASSURED. Chairman Carter of the republican national sat together in Mr. Manly's office this morning reading the dispatches that were forwarded to them from all pares of the country. The telegrams from Sergt. Dunn, the weather clerk in the Equitable building, were read with especial interest. The first one said: "Fair, cool weather in Indiana, Wis-consin and Illinois; fair, stationary temperature for New York, light rain in Maine, heavy rain in Alabama and snow in the northern part of "Which ever party wins," said Mr. Manly, "must acknowledge that in the matter of weather Providence has been kind to it." "Yes," said Mr. Carter, "but this is certainly Harrison weather," and the chairman of the epublican national committee rubbed his palms together pleasantly.

A telegram to Mr. Carter from Herkimer county, Warner Miller's home, said that Herkimer would give a republican majority of 3.000, which would be 300 above the estimate. RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 8.—The election is pass ing off exceedingly quiet in this city and sur-ing off exceedingly quiet in this city and surrounding country. Reports from the far-off rural districts are very meager, but the indications are that a heavy vote is being polled. The negroes are manifesting very little interest in the voting and many of them are voting the straight democratic ticket.

The managers of the three parties in this state adhere to their claims reported in yesterday's STAR, viz: The democrats claim for certain eight out of the ten Congressmen and the state for Cleveland by at least 10,000. The republicans say Harrison will carry the state, and the third partyites claim eight of ten Congressmen, but say nothing about Weaver's chances.

NORN S. WISE HAS TROUBLE. JOHN S. WISE HAS TROUBLE.

The hooting down of John S. Wise here last night by a number of democrats who had scattered themselves throughout the large negro audience is the sensation of the day. It transpires that Capt. Wise, who went directly to the telegraph office to "publish the outrage to the world," as he threatened when he left the hall, had a personal encounter with a newspaper man. It seems in a discussion as to the meeting Capt. Wise called the journalist a liar, whereupon the latter struck the captain, but friends separated them before further blows could be passed.

A PROMINENT LAWIER ARRESTED. A PROMINENT LAWYER ARRESTED.

The only incident of the day in this city so far is the arrest of Alexander Guigon, a prominent lawyer, for obstructing the negroes in their voting precincts. John Wise is leading the republican forces, and he declares that every negro who comes to the polls shall be voted. Many other arrests are likely to feliow.

IN THE PETERSBURG DISTRICT.

The election here in Petersburg, as well as throughout the fourth congressional district, as far as learned, is progressing very quietly, and no disturbance of any serious nature has occurred. Among those who refused to vote for Goode and scratched him was Col. James D. Brady, UnitedStates internal revenue collector for this district. Brady had previous to the election de-clared that he would not vote for Goode. While Goode is not being voted for by Brady and many of his followers, he is supported by Mahone and his party. Some few of the ne-groes here in this city and also in the district are scretching Goode and voting for Every but ommittee and Joseph H. Manly of Maine are scratching Goode and voting for Epes, but a majority of them are believed to be casting their bailots for the third party candidate. Democrats are be very close. Democrats the opinion that the chances of the opinion that the chances are in favor of Epes, but will place no estimate as to what his majority will be. THE STAR'S correspondent has just interviews ex-Congressman Edward C. Venable, who is one of the best informed democrats in the state, and he says he thinks that Virginia will give Cleveland a majority of from 10,000 to 15,000. When asked as to the result in the fourth district he said that he thought that Epes would certainly be elected, but by how much majority he could not say. In his opinion be did not think that many the negroes would vote for Goode.

Corrigan, for Congress, is running strong and the people's party doing very little.

Danville, Va., Nov. 8.—The election here is progressing quietly. The weather is beautiful and a full vote is being polled. The whites generally are voting the democratic and the blacks the republican tickets, though a few blacks are voting with the democrats. There was a sensational occurrence in North Danville this morning. Rev. J. R. Moffitt, editor of the prohibition organ and bitter against the democratic party, had printed at his job office a number of democratic tickets in which several names of electors were erroneous. Moffitt failed to make a satisfactory explanation as to why the tickets were printed and the democrats were very indignant. J. T. The present indications point to large democratic gains all over the second district. It is thought Norfolk will give a large democratic majority and Portamouth over five hundred; that Tyler, democrat, will be elected to Congress, and that there is a probability of the election of the democratic electoral ticket in the second district. Republicans are taking little interest, owing to a division in their ranks.

Republican Confidence Revived. Special Dispatch to The Evening Star.

This caused a howl and dire threats among the republicans. Up to this afternoon the state committees have received many telegrams from various parts of Indiana, saying that a heavy vote is being polled and no disturbances have been reported. These reports are of a have been reported. These reports are of a reassuring nature to both parties, based on the polls taken in every county for the past ten years. A Tremendous Poll Being Made in Indian INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Nov. 8 .- Election day in Indiana dawned cold and cloudless. By 9 o'clock the unpleasant chill of the morning was dispelled by the bright sunshine and the day was all that could be desired, favoring a full vote.

In this city the voting commenced early, and the indications point to a tremendous poll. The activity of the party workers is phenomenal, each side straining every norve to get every possible vote into the ballot boxes.

Up to 11 o'clock no disturbances had been reported at any of the voting places. Only o arrest has been made. Early in the day the challengers and outside watchers had rather a chilly time of it, but they were doubtless sustained by the warmth of their devotion to their work. Instructions to "vote early" were generally observed At every polling place in the earlier hours of the day voters were in line waiting for a chance to get into the booths. At some precincts, on the north side especially, twenty-five to thirty men were in line shivering in the cold and de-nouncing election officers for alleged incompolling places did not open at 6 o'clock as required by law. Voting Going on Actively and Quietly-No Disturbance Reported. Special Dispatch to The Evening Star.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, Nov. 8.—The weather is cold. Voting is proceeding in this city actively and quietly, and no report of disturbance anywhere in the state is yet reported. The Ohio where in the state is yet reported. The Ohio State Journal, republican, said editorially this morning: "In the present condition of the canvass it is idle to predict results. No man knows what it will be, and the wisescre who pretends to say just how the vote will result advertises himself as a person whose folly certainly outruns his judgment. The vote is sure to be close. The business men of this country will decide it." It predicts the elegation of the structural products as the product of the voters as they will decide it." It predicts the election of the republican state ticket by the usual plurality.

The Evening Dispatch, independent republican, said in its issue last evening: "It has been said that the total vote of Ohio to be cast tomorrow will be 900,000 or more. We are inclined to doubt that statement for several reasons. We have entire confidence in the state giving its electoral vote to Gan Harrison. state giving its electoral vote to Gen. Harrison, but whether he will have an increased or diminbut whether he will have an increased or diminished plurality on the general vote is a matter upon which an opinion is difficult to give. In 1888 republican plurality was 19,599. It would not surprise us if that figure is not reached."

The Press-Post, democratic organ, says: "While Ohio has not cast its electoral vote for a democratic presidential candidate since 1852 the indications are now that if it does go for Harrison it will be by a remarkably alim plurality. Cleveland is stronger than any other ity. Cleveland is stronger than any other democrat in this state and will get republican support in every precinct, and if the defection among the republican toilers in the factories and mines is as strong as it has been found in three congressional districts his chances good to carry Ohio."

AN ENORMOUS VOTE POLLED. At 12:30 p. m. an enormous vote had bee polled and voting was going on with great activity. The stopping of street cars by the strike made the use of carriages to carry voters to the polls more necessary than usual. There does not seem to be much scratching except by the A. P. A. No disturbances are reported.

VOTING BEGAN EARLY IN OHIO.

In Some Places in Cincinnati Two-thirds the Registration Was Polled by 9 o'clock. CLEVELAND, OHIO, Nov. 8.—The weather is cool and cloudy, but with no apparent indica-tion of a storm. Voting in all the city pre-cincts began as soon as the polls were opened. Indications point to a full vote during the day. Both sides have put forth every effort to win. The total registration in the city is 51,500, as against 46,841 in 1891. In some of the wards more than half the registered vote was polled against 46,341 in 1891. In some of the wards more than half the registered vote was polled before 10 o'clock.

The local republican managers this morning claimed a wholesale attempt to fraudulently obtain democratic votes in this city. As an illustration it is said that on Michigan street from Seneca to Ontario, where the buildings are devoted almost whelly to business purposes, the exceptions being a hotel and several lodging houses, the registration list for the precinct gives the names of 116 voters in that single square. Twenty-three of them were credited to a lodging house at 54 Michigan street.

"We made an investigation," said Secretary Chandler, "and discovered that just three of the whole number live there. The other twenty merely slept there for a night or were never in the lodging house at all."

Two officers of the republican central committee were busy most of yesterday afternoon making out lists of names to be challenged when men attempt to vote under them today.

Toledo, Nov. &—The day opened bright and cold and the voters turned out early. Fully one-third the total vote of the city was polled by 9 o'clock, and the heaviest vote ever given in Toledo will be thrown today.

The only important feature of the election is the fight for Congressman in the second district. Bellamy Storey is a candidate for re-election on the republican ticket. ALTGELD BUNNING AREAD.

At the democratic state and county headquarters a very hopeful feeling prevailed. The city is democratic, and the big vote had in it a give the state to Harrison. This is not really exgood deal of hope for them. At noon they were claiming the county for Altgeld for governor by 20,000, a majority which, if realized, would give him the state over Gov. Fifer. That Altgeld was running ahead of his ticket was be-heved by everybody.

At the state headquarters Secretary Jamieson said the vote in Illinois would be close on the governorship, but that the prospects were good ters. Chairman Taggart of the democratic comfor a large majority for the Harrison elec-tors. "The vote in Cook county," said mittee says that Cleveland will have more than he, "is enormous, but the republican voters all over the state, according to our advices, are turning out and the state is safe.
